Job Report

If the job could talk, it would clearly define the knowledge, hard skills, people skills, behavior and culture needed for superior performance. Your unbiased input regarding the specific requirements of the job in question will be applied to the job benchmarking process. The result is an evaluative report that analyzes a total of 37 separate areas along with additional feedback on each area. Suggested interview questions that pertain to each area complete this report.

Talent Report

This report reveals a person's specific traits in three areas that describe the how, why and what of individual performance. This is accomplished through an unbiased assessment of the Behaviors people bring to the job, the Values that motivate people to do a job, and their potential to provide the Personal Skills required by the job. As a job benchmarking tool, the same three areas are used to measure the requirements of the job, providing a complete system to compare talent to the position and create the best job fit. This powerful tool ensures that you hire, develop, and retain top talent.

Gap Report – comparing talent to the job reports

Long-term superior performance is directly related to job fit. Job fit, in simple terms, is having the talent that the job requires. Most people match some, but not necessarily all, job requirements. When this happens, we have a gap. The gap is nothing more than an area for development. This report makes it easy for both manager and subordinate to discuss and develop a plan for personalized development.
